Radiologist Opportunity in Thunder Bay, Ontario, Canada

Diagnostic Imaging at Thunder Bay Regional Health Sciences Centre (TBRHSC) is actively seeking a fellowship-trained Radiologist to become a part of our physician group.

Position Description

Fellowship-training in musculoskeletal radiology would be considered an asset. Expertise at breast imaging would also be beneficial. The selected radiologist will perform both diagnostic and musculoskeletal interventional procedures, which include joint injections, aspirations, lumbar punctures, bone and soft tissue biopsies, and other musculoskeletal-related procedures. They will also be responsible for interpreting a range of general diagnostic studies, such as radiographs, ultrasounds, MRIs, and CT scans, and will collaborate with the orthopedic program as well as other services including oncology.

Skills & Assets

Candidates must possess specialist certification from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario or equivalent, and must be eligible for licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. Applications are welcome from Canadian and International Medical Graduates (IMGs). We seek enthusiastic individuals who are committed to delivering high-quality clinical services in a supportive and collaborative environment.

Incentives & Opportunities

The successful candidate will be associated with the NOSM University, with an academic rank that reflects their qualifications and experience. Research opportunities are available through the Thunder Bay Regional Health Research Institute (TBRHRI). Furthermore, eligible physicians may apply for the Northern and Rural Recruitment and Retention Initiative grant (exceeding $84,000) and the Northern Physician Retention Initiative (annual amount of $7,460.05). Selected candidates and their families will have the opportunity to participate in a funded community visit to Thunder Bay.
